ABOUT THIS DUET

Grenache is at home in the rocky soils of France's southern Rhône Valley, which produces wines that are rich, lightly peppery, and herbaceous. The grape also thrives in Australia, where it is the backbone of GSM blends, creating wines with explosive power and richness.

ABOUT THIS DUET

The name of the game is bold, with both wines showcasing the exuberance of Paso Robles. The Paso Red powers forward with its jammy blend of Merlot, Syrah, Zinfandel, and Cabernet. Meanwhile the Tablas Creek lets Grenache take the lead with Syrah, Counoise, and Mourvèdre rounding out this Rhône-style blend.
