Hi Bart,

Love your content. I am playing 2/5 NL here in Colorado, and am currently in a pretty long downswing. One problem I am having is that I think I am pretty good at knowing how to play post when heads up, but now that no one folds, and pots go multiway, I feel less confident about maneuvering. I know that I can't bluff as much, and so I feel I am reduced to "getting lucky." So my question is, should I raise huge to reduce the field, and try to play heads up more? Or do I try to get better at playing multiway? It seems like the normal raise with 4 or 5 callers, and the big raise with 1 or 2 result in about the same SPR going to the flop. It has certainly been helpful to watch your videos playing in Texas, as almost every pot is multi.

Hand 1:

UTG opens $300.. 2 callers I call 2nd to last straddle w Qd Td, straddle calls. 5 ways $1500

FLOP: Tc 5s 7s I check, Bones bets $700, UTG folds, CO to $2100, I fold, call. $6700

TURN: Jh. X/$8800 all in. Set over set 55 v 77

Set of 7s we have 2% equity.

15 combo draw we have 70% equity.

Even combos of 77 and combo draws is $(70+2)/2 = 36\%$

3:2 combos of 77 to combo draws is $(2+2+2+70+70)/5 = 29\%$

3:1 combos of 77 to combo draws is $(2+2+2+79)/4 = 19\%$

Hand 2:

5/10/25/50 -- $6,800 effective.

MP opens $150, and I call in straddle Ac 4c ... second straddle calls. $500

FLOP: 538ccc I lead $200, next to act calls, and pfr folds. $900

TURN: Ad I check he bets $500, I call. $1900

RIVER: Td I check he bets $800 I jam.. $6000.. he calls.
