Cbet sizing question

So I've played poker for a while now and win around $20/hr at $1/3, so decent player but not a crusher. One thing I've noticed about some pros and in the third man walking podcast is that in some 3bet pots and other single-raised pots, hero doesn't use small cbet sizing. Like they will bet half or a little over half pot as a cbet. For the last year, I've defaulted to almost always cbetting 1/3 pot, which I know can't be bad, but I'm assuming won't win the most amount of money sometimes. However, in Marc Goone's most recent video, he says he likes to do a lot of small cbetting against poor competition. These seem to be a little contradictory to me and I was wondering if you could shed some light on when you should and shouldn't be cbetting small. Obviously, this is a very broad and general question, but any sort of explanation can help.
