1. CURIOUSA FABIO STACK

Part of a wider range of sculptural stacked glass light pieces within Curiousa's collection, the Fabio Stack mixes elements inspired by Native American Totems with pieces from the existing sculptural range. The Fabio Stack combines three elegant glass pieces with a fine hand-turned Walnut disc to punctuate the sculptural arrangement. Every piece is hand-blown in the UK without the use of moulds, using just the skill of hand and eye to guide each shape. These strong dynamic statues work very well as stand-alone pieces or as part of a grouping in stairwells, dining rooms, kitchens, or IP rated for bathrooms, and with 22 glass colours to choose from the design possibilities are unending.

2. HECTOR FINCH GUINEVERE CHANDELIER

With the focus on sublime craftsmanship, the Guinevere Chandelier is made up using two tiers of light fittings – six per tier – in brass rectangular profile tube. Perfect for both residential and hospitality projects, it can be fully customised. Each chandelier is hand machined in the UK by skilled craftsmen at the Hector Finch production workshops in rural Herefordshire.

3. AARON HALES CORBEILLE LEATHER TRAY

The Corbeille Italian Nappa leather tray is a beautifully crafted piece, handmade in England and inspired by 18th century French tea trays. Just one of a beautiful collection the tray features hand-painted edges that add a touch of elegance and state-of-the-art printing technology allows for a lasting print that bonds to the grain of the leather. A versatile accessory, the tray can be used to serve your favourite drinks and snacks, as a catch-all for keys, coins, and other small items or simply as a stand-alone decorative item. A unique accessory that will be a treasured item for years to come.
