THE WORLD OF INTERIORS

7 There's nothing worse than admiring something, only to hear it was an auspicious auction find. And while Barbara Weiss's red swing-arm lamp was just that (page 121), we're thrilled to say that we've found a remake: Hector Finch's 'Tom' comes in ten colours and costs £690. Ring 020 7731 8886, or visit hectorfinch.com.

8 Do you want to know a secret? Barbara Weiss used an Ikea carcass for her kitchen, souping it up with different doors (page 119). Superfront, dedicated to this particular kind of design hack, are specialists across plain and patterned MDF fronts, sides and tops for frames from the Scandinavian leviathan. Prices start at £28 for a cabinet door. Ring 00 46 8 68 44 18 14, or visit superfront.com.

9 Partial to parterre? Keen on green? It's obvious that Vincent Darré is, having picked a carpet that is laid out like a formal garden for his kitchen (page 103). Thanks to Casa Lopez, you too can bring the outside in: 'Normandie' costs £915 approx. Visit casalopez.com.

10 Among the many Darré designs dotted around his domestic mise-en-scène, the newer ones steal the show: a 'Gemelli' vase (page 101), a 'Lyric' console and a 'XIV' mirror (page 102). All were created for a collection at Oka, launching on 1 March. Prices from £495. Visit oka.com.

11 Vincent Darré sleeps in a 'golden royal bed', its crowning glory the rather regal fabric he's covered it with: Jim Thompson's 'Enter the Dragons' (page 106), crawling with imperial beasts. The textile – £82 per m from Fox Linton – comes in six colours. Ring 020 7368 7700, or visit foxlinton.com.

12 Those looking for intaglios akin to Dunrobin Castle's on page 134 are able to breathe a sigh of relief: Bridie Hall's 'Roman Emperor' cases (£475 each) have all the presence (if not the provenance) of those by Pietro Paoletti. Ring Pentreath & Hall on 020 7430 2526, or visit pentreath-hall.com. ▷
