

THE WORLD OF INTERIORS

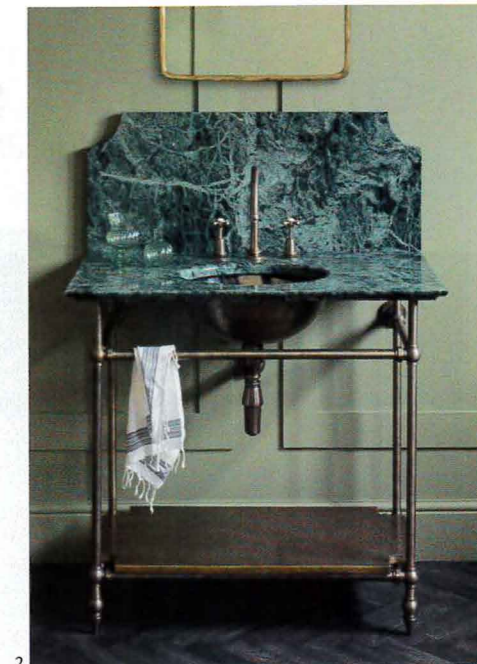

antennae

1 Join Hector Finch as he gets 'more playful and feminine'. His 'Scalloped Edge' hanging and wall lanterns, which are made from sheet zinc or sheet brass in various finishes, can be yours for £1,284 and £1,104 respectively. Ring 020 7731 8886, or visit hectorfinch.com.

2 What bathroom wouldn't scrub up well with the addition of Catchpole & Rye's 'Pyrford' washstand with shelf? Crafted by artisans at the company's Kent workshops, it is available in a whole plethora of stones and metal finishes, including Verde marble and aged brass (shown; £6,780). Ring 01233 840840, or visit catchpoleandrye.com.

3 Rosi de Ruig (Wol May 2018) is something of a leading light in the lampshade world – a position she's sure to maintain with her latest 'Striped Trimmed Paper' models, which are hand-printed and handmade to order in six colourways. They cost from £84 for a 'Petite' wall light version. Ring 020 8743 9737, or visit rosideruig.co.uk.

4 Patrick Kinmonth's love affair with Venice is nothing if not infectious. His memories of the Palazzo Orfei – one-time studio of the great designer Mariano Fortuny – as it was in the 1970s would make anyone want to rush out and buy his own version of damask, a cloth with which the city has a rich association. Designed for Chelsea Textiles, 'Venetian Damask' is printed on three types of linen (£206 per m) and as wallpaper (£215 per 10m roll), both of which are available in six colourways. Ring 020 7584 5544, or visit chelseatextiles.com.

5 Reasons to be cheerful, Part 3... One: Heal's is now the exclusive stockist of Coat Paints (from £42 for 2.5 litres). Two: in honour of the fact, the latter has introduced six colours that reflect the former's heritage. Three: according to the manufacturer of water-based, low-VOC wares, it is the first carbon-positive company in this field. So, it's not one of the blockheads then. Ring 0333 212 1915, or visit heals.com ■
