

SS&C | Blue Prism® Document Automation

Turn handwritten documents and low-quality machine print paper into decision-ready information immediately

Data makes all the difference

Document Automation is the proven platform for reading, enriching, and delivering data from paper, images and PDFs. It enables businesses to accept end-customer information in any form and turn it into decision-ready data.

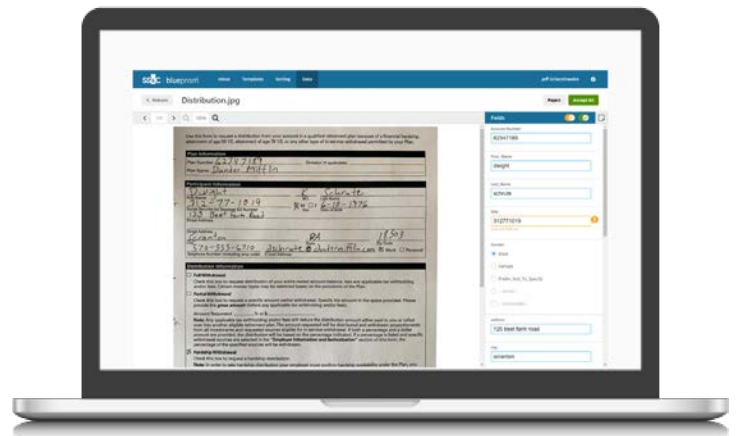

With Document Automation at the front of your automation strategy, your work is intelligently extracted, prioritized, contextualized and routed to fit directly into your current business processes, improving your downstream workflow.

Speed. Power. Accuracy.

Document Automation is a central link between inputs – the mailroom, digital portals – and downstream CRMs, enterprise content management systems, and business process management engines.

Document Automation:

- Surpasses human accuracy where it counts: identifiers like Tax ID numbers and monetary data
- Increases throughput rates and lowers cycle times
- Scales to meet throughput demands of your largest and most complex workflows
- Eliminates paper backlogs and non-standard workflows

98%+

average document extraction accuracy

1000x

faster than humans

50%

increase in straight-through processing

80%

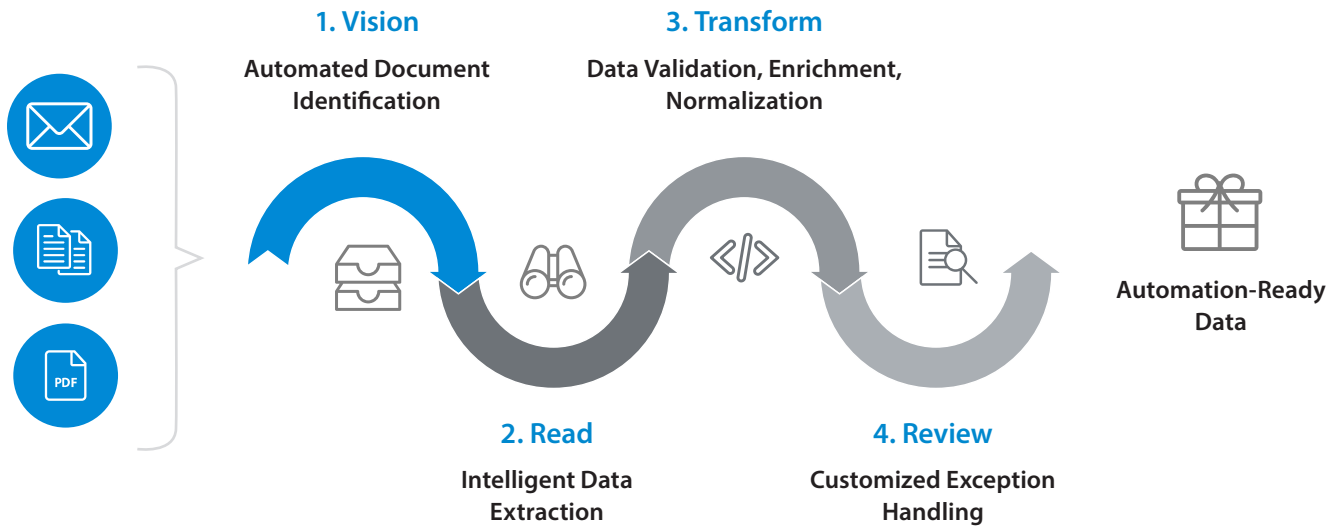

reductions in manual staff effort

For more information, visit
www.blueprism.com

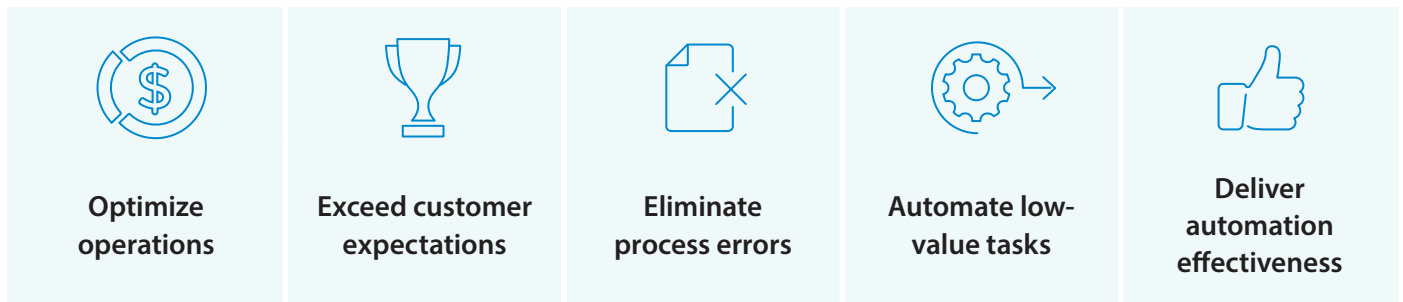

ss&c | blueprism®

How Document Automation works

Document Automation provides a comprehensive solution for extracting handwriting and low-quality machine print from paper and turning it into automation-ready data. With Document Automation, you can continuously extract data from new documents as they come in to save time and reduce costs, and digitize historical data to feed machine learning models or provide a searchable repository.

What it means for your business

About SS&C Blue Prism

SS&C Blue Prism enables organizations to transform experiences and unlock new business value every day. Our intelligent automation solutions empower you to build a unified workforce of people and digital co-workers to ensure you leverage the right resource, every time, for the right business outcome. We help you transform customer and employee journeys by connecting work at every level, eliminating functional silos and aligning work to outcomes. All with the visibility, alignment and control you need across the entire business, and the agility to adapt to changing requirements and achieve the results your business demands.

© 2022 SS&C Technologies Holdings, Inc. PS-556-02

For more information, visit
www.blueprism.com

ss&c | blueprism®