

Process Assessment

Set your SS&C Blue Prism digital workforce up for quick wins and repeatable success

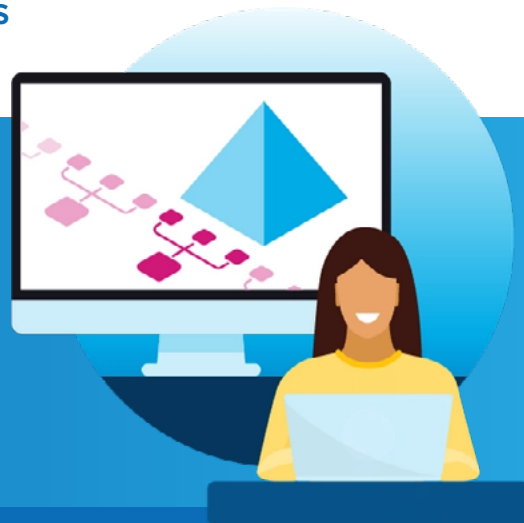

Organizations need a holistic view of their automation-candidate pipeline and a full analysis of their business processes — in terms of automation readiness and potential business value — before the start of their automation journey.

Discovering and assessing which processes generate the highest returns can take months, and manual discovery, monitoring and assessment is costly, slow and error prone. Without a process assessment solution, poor visibility into process performance also introduces bottlenecks and compliance risks.

Can I automate this? Will I gain any business value from that automation? The SS&C | Blue Prism® Process Assessment Tool will answer your most critical questions and set you on the right path to creating a consistent pipeline of automation opportunities.

The Process Assessment Tool is web-based and qualifies and prioritizes processes according to automation readiness and potential business value. It helps organizations to build and manage a scalable automation pipeline.

We're taking the guesswork out of intelligent automation by telling you which processes will be easiest to implement ahead of time and how much cost savings they're likely to yield — setting your digital workforce up for quick wins and repeatable success.

Key benefits:

- Accurate intelligent automation: discover ahead of time which processes will be the easiest to implement
- Cost savings: with your digital workforce you'll secure quick wins and repeatable success
- Informed, strategic steps in your journey
- Build a scalable automation pipeline

Evaluate, validate, scale, monitor and export. Take action!

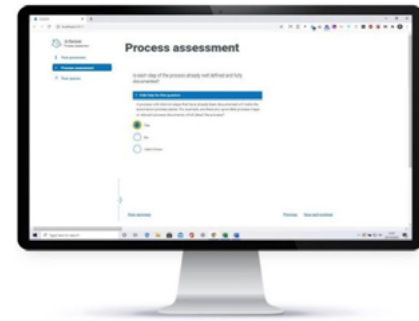

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT

- A clear picture of your automation opportunity
- User-friendly, centralized results dashboard
- Key statistics at-a-glance
- Proof of value for intelligent automation
- Informed, strategic next steps in your journey

Inside the Process Assessment Tool

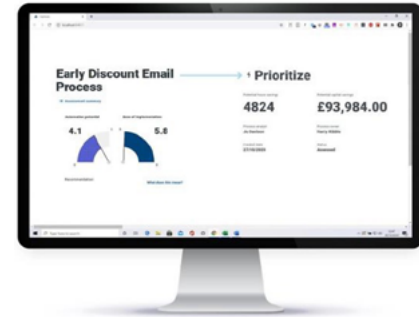

1. Process assessment

Complete a brief online survey to qualify and prioritize processes for automation. At the end of the survey, you'll get an instant recommendation.

2. Your processes

After you've assessed a few processes, the Your Processes dashboard will show you the number of processes that are ready for automation, how many need review and how many need significant work before they're automation candidates.

3. Your spaces

Your Spaces, a flexible and secure user-group management platform, makes it easier than ever to securely govern and support the rollout of process assessment across the entire organization — all with an enterprise-level view of your automation opportunity pipeline.
