Important COVID-19 Information
To prevent the spread of COVID-19, additional restrictions may be required for attending all in-person programs. See the sections on Covid-19 Guidelines for In-Person Programs, the Covid-19 Policy, and the Covid-19 Terms and Conditions found on the Education Overview webpage. Changes to this policy will be updated as needed.

Inclusion Statement
It is our goal that children of all abilities play and learn together in our programs. The individual program will determine the level of support needed for participation. The unique public nature of the Zoo, student-to-teacher ratios and program activities may require that families provide a qualified aide to help with additional support needs. To help determine the best program for your child and answer other questions, please visit our Inclusion FAQ page.

Our goal is that every child has the opportunity to reach their full potential in our conservation education programs.
Registration Information

Our programs are developmentally appropriate for the set age range listed.

We realize that sometimes developmental level does not correlate to chronological age. If this is the case, you can reach out to us to determine the best placement for your child.

To discuss any other inclusion questions, please contact Laura Seger at seger@stlzoo.org.

Medication Authorization Policy

For parents/adults registered to attend in-person programs with their child:
If your child needs to take medication during any in-person Zoo program, you are responsible for carrying the medication and monitoring your child’s needs.

For parents of youth attending programs unaccompanied by an adult:
If your child needs to take medication during Zoo program hours (including insulin or an insulin pump), you must complete the Zoo’s medication authorization form. Emergency rescue medicine including an EpiPen or other epinephrine auto-injector require completing the FARE - Food Allergy and Anaphylaxis Emergency Care Plan. Complete medication information is required before your child attends their Zoo program.

Parking For Programs

Parking is available on the Zoo’s North Lot on Government Drive and South Lot on Wells Drive for a fee. Zoo members can use their free parking benefits. Limited free street parking is available. Visit stlzoo.org for parking details and pricing.

Congestion on streets in Forest Park can cause a delay in your arrival time. Please plan extra time so that you arrive on time for any in-person Zoo program.

Zoo Policy

Children under the age of 14 must be accompanied by an adult. Parents of children under the age of 14: Please plan to escort your child to class and then pick them up when their program is over. You will be asked to sign your child “in” and “out” before and after programs. All program participants will be accompanied by Zoo staff and/or Zoo volunteers during their program.
Camp Program Information

The Saint Louis Zoo takes great pride in its Camp tradition. Zoo Camp programs are designed using best practices in environmental education, to be developmentally appropriate and fun, and are led by trained educators. These camps are however, not a part of a school program and therefore not licensed by the state department of elementary and secondary education.

Children attend these programs without their parent or caregiver. Zoo Educators and volunteers facilitate these programs. To accommodate as many children as possible, you can only register for one session of each Camp topic. Please visit our website for information about our inclusion services.

Some camps may include dissection or other lab activities, which will require parental or guardian consent to our Science Safety Contract at the time of registration.

Camp scholarships are available for families with financial need. Call (314) 646-4544, option #6 or go to stlzoo.org/education for application materials.

Thanks to generous gifts from donors such as Delta Dental of Missouri, the Kwame Family Foundation, and the Nancy Galvin Education Scholarship Fund, the Saint Louis Zoo is pleased to announce scholarship opportunities for our educational summer camp programs. We would also like to recognize the generosity of AFB International and the Lemay Jefferson Barracks Lion Club for their support of the Saint Louis Zoo’s inclusion initiatives.

2022 Sustainability Institute for Educators – Climate Change Connections
For all educators

Designed for educators from all roles and environments, the Sustainability Institute for Educators challenges participants to help learners build awareness, recognize responsibility, and take action as global citizens working to build a healthier, more sustainable world. This year, Institute participants will explore the multidisciplinary nature of climate change. Teaching about the climate crisis can be daunting, but is not insurmountable. Climate action is happening all around us. Teachers can help students move through the natural anxiety they may be experiencing to join in and spark new solutions-oriented action. Through interactive sessions and local climate change expert presentations, educators will learn the basics of climate science and how to bring climate solutions to their learning spaces. Sessions will demonstrate how a range of disciplines can work together to understand and address the needs of climate change through education and youth engagement. Join us to gain knowledge, tools, strategies, and community networking to explore climate solutions and help tackle this critical issue. The 3-day Institute will be held at three locations in the St. Louis area: Missouri Botanical Garden, Saint Louis Zoo, and Webster University.

Fee: $125 registration fee includes lunch. Scholarships and graduate credit available.
