

Own Plant Insurance

What is it?

Plant and machinery cover protects your equipment and tools that you need to get the job finished.

Who needs it?

If you work as a building contractor or a tradesman and use your own equipment on site, then you will be liable for the cost of repairing or replacing your own equipment.

What does it cover?

Because your policy will be tailored to you, the cover is variable, but could typically look at:

- Cost of repair or replacement
- Cost of hiring in plant whilst repairs take place
- Plant in transit

What does having Own Plant Insurance mean to you?

As a contractor or tradesperson, your equipment is invaluable to you. Having to replace or repair it can come with a hefty cost as well as the inconvenience of hiring replacements to complete your job. Having the correct insurance in place means that you can get on with running your business, without the worry of unwelcome and unexpected expenses.
