

Travel Insurance

What is it?

Travel Insurance is something that most people are familiar with. Before you go on your holiday, you should make sure you have insurance that covers the major risks that you might face on that holiday, the basics being comprehensive medical cover and trip cancellation.

But Travel Insurance policies can be tailored to your particular holiday, or you might want an annual policy if you are planning on several trips away.

Who needs it?

If you are going on holiday and are likely to lose significant sums of money if something were to go wrong, then you need to buy travel insurance.

What does it cover?

There are many different types of travel insurance, depending on the type of trip you are taking:

- Single trip cover
- Annual multi-trip cover
- Backpackers, gap year or round the world cover

There are even different policies for different destinations, considering various risks associated with different parts of the world.

In addition, there are policies that cover particular types of activities that you may be taking part in, such as winter sports, parachuting, bungee jumping, white water rafting or even taking a luxury experience such as a Belmond Train ride on the Oriental Express.

At rhg, we'll talk to you about your trip and find the right insurance policy for you.

What does having Travel Insurance mean to you?

Travelling the world should be an eye-opening experience, or a relaxing retreat from everyday life. Whatever you want out of your travels, unexpected expenses shouldn't be one of them. Your insurance policy should be tailored to you and your travel needs to make sure you experience peace of mind from the first step of your journey, to the last.
