

GR10 2020 update

These notes are based on the 2019 reprint (with updates) to the First edition (2016).

I walked Sections 27-55 in 2020. I've also added a few notes on major changes required for sections 1-26.

Most of the suggested changes are due to minor rerouting, clarification of the route descriptions, updates on facilities and additional data on waterpoints.

P7

Stages 52 and 53: replace Gite d'étape l'écogite de la Palette with Ribera del Terme

P13

Add Preface to 2020 update

Since I surveyed the route for the first edition I have re-walked most sections of the GR10, and in 2020 did a thorough update of sections 27-55. All web addresses were updated in 2020.

P79

It is reported that the suspension bridge was closed for safety reasons in 2020 with diversions on tracks to the east of Logibar.

P80

It is reported that the Gorges de Kakoueta was closed in 2020 following a serious accident.

P108

Refuge CAF de Gourette was due to reopen in 2019

P113

Minor diversion reported on leaving Arrens-Marsous

P145

It is reported that there is a new route from Luz-Saint-Sauveur through Viella, Viey and Sers. It is not clear whether this is a variation or whether it has replaced the route described in this guide.

P173

Line 12 after bar-restaurant add or follow the path between airfield and lake.

Sidebar: replace and it is even possible for the daring to have a bracing shower with There may be a pizza van below the waterfall.

Paragraph 2 line 4 Replace past a tiny wooden hut (one-man bothy?) with to a (dried up?) pond on

P178

Delete first paragraph You could follow the track which leads to a spring which was just running in July 2015, veering right and climbing back to the GR10. This is the only water on the ascent and possibly the only water you might drink without treating before Fos. And replace with The GR10 now follows the track left that leads to a spring (just running in July 2020), veering right and climbing back to the original route of the GR10. This is the last water on the ascent.

Third paragraph after past borderstones 402 and 403 to a col with add a (dried up?)

Paragraph 3 line; after forking right add at a signed junction

P 258

Add optional route over Pic Carlit

P259

Line 3 after cabin add new paragraphs

In good weather, once the snow has melted, there is the option of following the HRP over Pic Carlit (2920m), the highest peak in the eastern Pyrenees. This is more difficult than any climb on the GR10, comparable with the hardest passes on the GR11 and takes about 3:30 hours longer than following the GR10.

Follow the GR7 above the SE shore of Lac Lanoux to the first dam. Turn left, ESE, up a cairned path to Étang des Fourcats (2457m) where camping is possible. Climb the obvious well-worn route up the steep scree slope on the west face of Pic Carlit. On reaching a small col on the summit ridge, turn right to the summit. Descend down a rocky ridge, with very easy scrambling, on the well-waymarked 'tourist route' and then follow paths through scenic terrain to the Lac des Bouillouses dam.

Line 5 delete the left hand side of the valley. Don't worry if you lose the waymarks, just descend to and replace with and then veer left of

Line 7 delete but not ideal because of the cows

2nd sidebar add at end (if you ignore the new ban on swimming)

Line 1 delete missable

Paragraph 2 line 6 delete The GR10 goes left and soon reaches and replace with Turn right and left at

Paragraph 3 line 1 delete Cross the N116 and Paragraph 3 line 3 after 20min) add (possibly as sidebar) There is a basic campground 300m to the right.

P264

Sidebar delete and for l'Atelier des Sens (opposite the church) which sells quality bread and limited groceries

Final paragraph line 8 delete (this is not the Gite d'etape le Malaza which has now closed)

P267

Paragraph 2 line 2 after waterpoint add (not working 2020)

P268

Line 4 delete The GR10 switchbacks down a path, frequently crossing the switchbacking track as it descends a rough open slope. Once the gradient eases the GR10 goes straight down the slope, crossing the track on a number of occasions before following it right and replace with The GR10 now follows the track which descends from the left-hand side of the col, switchbacking easily all the way down

P269

Replace the whole paragraph with

Head upstream from the refuge, soon crossing a bridge and climbing away from the stream. Veer left (20min), cross a major stream (with good campsites) and soon start a descending, then rising, traverse into the next valley. Leave the woods (45min) and climb roughly SE through pasture and open woodland, veering

P270

Line 2 after woods add (passing a small spring-fed stream which may be running)

Paragraph 2 line 3 after (3hr 45min) add where we leave the nature reserve

Paragraph 2 line 3 delete veer away from the stream, then ford and replace with continue down to

Paragraph 2 line 5 delete (there is a bridge downstream) and follow the track, forking right into and replace with It is often possible to ford this stream, but the GR10 goes left to a footbridge before climbing to

Paragraph 3 line 2 Before Auberge Add A bar-restaurant, the Senglar, with a small epicerie, opened in 2020 in the centre and the

P275

Paragraph 2 line 5 delete a surprising spring-fed waterpoint and then

P279

Paragraph 2 delete crossing a boulder-filled dry valley and descending on a rough path. Pass the Font d'Escureo which was running in August 2014 (3hr 20min). This spring or a couple of small streams ahead will be your only water before the Refuge des Courtalets, but they could dry up in a hot summer and replace with climbing to avoid several gullies on an arduous crossing of the boulder-filled valley. Eventually descend on a rough path to arrive (then combine with paragraph 3)

P278

Add waterpoint symbol to Refuge de Bonnes-Aigue

Delete the waterpoint symbol W of the Refuge des Cortalets

P280

Paragraph 1 line 1 delete basic

Paragraph 1 line 1 delete 2014. There is no waterpoint at the bothy but if you continue 400m along the track the Bonne Aigue stream may be running. Camping is possible; and replace with 2020 with a good waterpoint. The grass verges of the track will provide your first campsites for several hours;

Map. Swap over main route and alternative routes

P283

2nd paragraph at end add (as sidebar?) There is a picnic site and possible camping about 200m west of the refuge.

P284

Map. at end of route delete Gite d'étape l'ecogite de la palette and accommodation and building symbols

P285

Title delete Gite d'étape l'ecogite de la palette and replace with Ribera del Terme

Introduction. Add. The gite d'étape at the end of the stage, closed down in 2019 and there are no facilities at the end of this stage. There is no accommodation between Arles-sur-Tech and the end of Stage 53.

Paragraph 1 line 5 delete There is good camping just ahead at the Collada del Roure (1031m) where there may be a hippie encampment. Continue down a track, passing a well-preserved dolmen on a knoll in the woods to the left of the track. There are good campsites nearby. And replace with Follow waymarks carefully through the Collada del Roure (1031m) where the 'hippie' encampment can lead to missing waymarks. Continue down a path which switchbacks left and right as it gently descends.

Paragraph 2 line 4 after track add (turn right here for 'Altitude 750' gite d'étape, 15min to the south)
