VALUE PROPOSITION

Fighting Fraud

As fraudulent IDs become more sophisticated and more common, it is imperative for casinos around the world to take measures to protect their operations, employees, and patrons.

With the high-quality of many fake IDs, a basic barcode scan is no longer enough to validate an ID, as bar codes are one of the easiest elements of an ID document to fake. Visual inspection of the ID—even with the assistance of software that captures information from a barcode—is no guarantee of security either.

Powerful Authentication

In contrast, Veridocs TrueAuthentication[®] technology retrieves and verifies data from all readable components of an ID, and also verifies its security features using three light sources—white, UV and infrared.

TrueAuthentication not only confirms a match between a document's printed and encoded (barcode and chip) data, but also provides assurance that UV and infrared security features built into each individual document have been authenticated.

This powerful technology, combined with Veridocs' built-in advanced list checking, gives organizations a highly secure, multi-layered approach to being certain of patrons' identities. This is especially important as casinos and hotels migrate towards more of a self-service or kiosk process. That's the benefit of Veridocs' more than 15 years of expertise in document authentication and watch list management in the gaming industry.
