

AGM Activism: challenge the UK's biggest companies to take action on their Ethnicity Pay Gap

AGM – or shareholder – activism takes the fight for a more just, fairer society to the heart of the UK's biggest companies.

Every year, the board, directors, and shareholders of all publicly listed companies come together at the company's Annual General Meeting (AGM) to make decisions about that company's future.

With just one share, you can go to a company's AGM and speak face to face with those with the power to take action on the issues that matter.

We've been asking AGM questions on the most important issues – from climate change, to workforce issues and public health – for over 10 years.

We've seen huge campaigning wins as a result of just one AGM question. But we couldn't do it without you!

We buy just enough shares to get you in the door, and provide all of the training and 1-2-1 support you need to ask an AGM question.

This AGM season, we're looking for AGM activists to take action on the Ethnicity Pay Gap.

We need AGM activists to quiz financial companies on their Ethnicity Pay Gap at the following dates and locations:

April

Thursday 28th April - London

Thursday 28th April - Edinburgh

Friday 29th April - London

Late April (date TBC) - London

Late April (date TBC) - Cardiff

May

Wednesday 4th May - Manchester

Wednesday 4th May - London

Thursday 5th May - London

Monday 9th May - London

Thursday 12th May - Edinburgh

Wednesday 18th May - Edinburgh

Wednesday 19th May - London

Wednesday 25th May - London

Thursday 26th May - London

October

Wednesday 19th October - Bristol

Interested? Get in touch with Campaigns Officer Ellie at ellie.mclaughlin@shareaction.org, who can share more information, and will be happy to share more about the campaign and discuss how we can support you through AGM activism.

Please note that these are expected locations, and may change depending on the company's announcement.